

FOG EDGE MEDIA

Want to be on TV? Fog Edge Media (www.fogedgemedia.com) is now casting (real homeowners) for Season Six of the DIY Network series - I Want That!

What is 'I Want That'?

I Want That is a continuing series airing on the DIY Network (www.diynetwork.com). The show features real homeowners using new products for the home and garden.

Who are we looking for?

I Want That is seeking enthusiastic, camera-ready homeowners who would enjoy trying out cool tools, the newest products, and cutting edge gadgets and appliances for the home and garden, and then talking about that product on camera.

Where do you film?

We film in the Washington/Maryland/Virginia metro area.

I'm interested! Now what do I do?

Please send us a little bit of information about yourself. To apply, send an email to IWTCasting@gmail.com and please include ALL of the following:

- 1) Your contact information. Please include your home address.
- 2) Pictures of your home including exterior pictures of your front and back yard; pictures of your kitchen, bathroom, living room, bedrooms, garage, and workbench if you have one. Please include at least 1 picture of you and your family.
- 3) Put your family name and city of residence in your email subject line.
For example: The Brown Family - Rockville MD.

What happens after I apply?

Once you've sent your application to IWTCasting@gmail.com we will add your information to our database. Our Casting Producer (Meredith) will contact you when we find a product that fits your home. At that time, Meredith can answer all your questions and schedule a shoot date.

What is expected of me?

We film three (3) product demonstrations in one full day and, almost always, the homeowners will get to keep the products they demonstrate. We are happy to give you lots more information after application. For more information on I Want That – visit www.diynetwork.com
